EXPLANATION: Mayo Medical Laboratories has recently made changes to streamline and facilitate the process for providing gestational dating information for the tests listed above. You are now prompted to provide the EDD (Estimated Date of Delivery) along with the method used to determine EDD (by LMP or Ultrasound).

In addition, if providing all of the required demographic information electronically, there is no need to include the First Trimester/Sequential Maternal Screening Patient Information Sheet (Supply T593), the Second Trimester Maternal Screening Alpha-Fetoprotein (AFP)/QUAD Screen Patient Information Sheet (Supply T595), or any other information form previously submitted to communicate the demographic information.
